Hi Julie,

Thanks for your time this morning and the opportunity to give you a handover from last week. Here is a written version for your records. I already ran you through each of these items today so no need to review again, it's just there if you want to refer back to anything and to provide you the documents we discussed.

The [REDACTED] s 22

Let me know if you have any further questions

Cheers,

Yes, that explains the 3500 X notifications. But billboard Chris said he was joining with free speech Australia on the AAT challenge. No mention of X Corp. do we know if they have joined this or if it's going to be a separate AAT challenge?

You don't often get email from s 47F @x.com. Learn why this is important

Dear s 22

Further to your email below, and by way of update, please be advised that our legal challenge was filed with the AAT today. A formal letter from Thomson Geer, our solicitors, will follow.

Kind regards

Hi s 22

Thank you for the call yesterday. As discussed, I would be grateful if you could let me know when eSafety will be formally notified by X Corp of the proposed legal proceedings proposed in the tweet from X Corp's GlobalGovernmentAffairs account on 30 March 2024. As you would appreciate, there is some interest in the issue and it would be helpful if we knew X Corp.'s formal position.

Kind regards,

s 22

Some of eSafety's regular critics have seized on comments by the Prime Minister about the increase to eSafety's funding to express their concerns about how eSafety exercises its powers with regards to free speech online (including Billboard Chris, who appears to think this has just happened – screenshot below).
